Wellie Bly Reaches Ceylon Two Days Ahead of Her Schedule.

She Had a Pleasant Trip Over the Red and Arabian Seas.

And Hopes to Carry to Hong Kong the Two Days She Has Gained.

"The World's" Girl Traveller in the Best of Health and Spirits.

ISPECIAL CABLE DESPATCH TO THE WORLD. ] COLOMBO, Island of Ceylon, Dec. 8. - I arrived here this morning safely on board the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Victoria two days shead of schedule time. I was, unfortunately. unable to send off a despatch from Aden, six days ago, owing first to the short time we stayed there and again to the general confusion that prevailed in transferring passengers.

We had a pleasant trip through the big ser where Pharaoh and his hosts were engulfed in olden times, and when we once got on the Arabian Sea we made splendid time, escaping the monsoons, and thus getting here earlier than I anticipated.

If my good luck continues the Victoria will bring me through the Straits of Malacca to Penang on Dec. 14, to Singapore two days later and to Hong Kong Dec. 23. This is still maintaining our two days abead which we have gained up to Colombo.

My journey has been made very pleasant for me through the courtesy of the Peninsular and Oriental people. I enjoyed my experiences thoroughly. The voyage from Brindisi, whence we sailed early on Monday morning, Nov. 24, wa exceedingly rough, especially while passing within fight of the Albanian coast. On Tuesday we were in view of the island of Crete, On the morning of the 27th we came in sight of the low shores of Egypt. My impressions of the Sucz Canal I have tried to give in my letter siready sent you. It seemed slow voyaging while passing through M. de Lessepa's wonderful work, because I was so anxious to get ahead. I am in the best of health and the brightest spirits and should feel better still, I think, journ in Hong Kong ahead of me, waiting for the steamer thence to Yokohama. I hope to cable you on Friday night or Saturday morning NELLIE BLY.

WHERE IS JOHN BELVIN?

Unaccountable Disappearance of a Well-Known Drummer. Inspector Byrnes and his detectives are inves tigating the mysterious disappearance of John A. Belvin, a well-to-do commercial traveler for Monne & Brothers, cigar manufacturers at 188 Duane street, who has been missing since Nov. 30.

Mr. Belvin left his home, 372 Halsey street, Brooklyn, at 9,30 on that morning and went directly to il. Monne & Brothers' office. Here he received $100 from Mr. it. Monne and at thee draw a check for $50, which he mailed to his wife. his wife.
Since then nothing has been seen or heard of him, and his wife and six children, to whom he was devotedly attached, are nearly crazed with grief and anxiety.

Mr. Belvin was forty—ine years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and has a dark complexion, mixed gray mustache and chin whiskers and is very baid.

Dr. Purdy, his family physician, was summoned to attend him, and he called in three other physicians, but their united efforts failed to save their patient's life.

Peritonitis is given as the cause of death.

Mr. Kennedy was a widower without children and about sixty-three years old.

He was building a magnificent residence at 675 Fifth avenue, which he proposed to occupy with some of his relatives.

Mr. Kennedy was reputed to be a millionaire, but has recently lost large sums of money in stock transactions.

He was a special member of the brokerage firm of Thomas & Odel, at 17. New street, and conducts his own business at 08 Broadway.

He was one of the members of the Union League, Racquet and American Jockey Clubs, and was one of the most popular brokers on Wall street, and in former times was the pet broker of Commodore Vanderbilt, Harry Travy and other magnates.

He came to this city from his birthplace in Montgomery County, when twenty-live years old, and engaged in the stove business on Water street.

Health Board Measures to Stop the Spread of the Dreaded Disease.

Judge Tighe's court-room in Brooklyn was thronged with Faith Curists this morning, who had gathered to witness the arraignment of Johan Jansen, of 666 Henry street, and the two Faith Curist nurses, Maria Petersen and Amed Janson, arrested yesterday at the instigation of the Brooklyn Board of Health, Jansen had occupied for the past week a small room on the top floor of the tenement-house at 000 Henry street. Paturday it was reported that his wife Hannah and and his six-monthsold child Johan were ill and refused to receive medical treatment.

The Board of Health and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children found that the child was sick with a combination of diph-similar case existed in the family of a man named Larsen, who is now under bad awaiting examination.

Commissioners Earker and Helshan consulted for a moment, announced that they agreed with the Corporation Commed and that they agreed with the Corporation Commed and that the investigation would be suspended indefinitely.

This sudden termination of an interesting inquiry was foreshadowed by a recent conference, participated in by the Mayor, Corporation Counsel Clark, Commissioner of Public Works Thomas F. Gilroy and W. Bourke Cockram, in which the advisability of immediate action regarding the reorganization of the Dock Board was discussed.

The Corporation Counsel is confident that sufficient evidence of fraud and mismanagement has already been addinced to warrant Gov. Hill in removing the present Commissioners on the recommendation of Mayor Grant, if the latter whall determine to make such a recommendation of Accounts.

One complication which will arise in this cramination.

The only treatment the sick persons received was from the two nurses who came in occasionally and praved for them.

The other families in the tenement-bonse were very indignant, for there were many children in the neighborhood whose health was imperiilled by the presence of such dangerous contagious diseases.

The authorities tried in vain to persuade them to accept treatment, and finally warned them not to leave their room until steps could be taken to funigate the premises.

In spate of this warning Jamen and the two nurses came out of the house yesterday afternoon, and were followed to a meeting place of the Faith Curists, at 155 Hamilton avenue, where seventy-five or more of the sect were congregate i for religious worship.

They mingled with the crowd, and during the services they were arrested.

Mrs. Jamen and the child were afterwards removed to the Flathush Hospital and their rooms at 666 Henry street, as well as the meeting-house, were thoroughly fumigated.

When the prisoners were arraigned this morning they were smiling and full of faith.

The jailkeeper said that they had been praying all night in Senninavian, asd seemed to fully believe that the angel of the Lord would come down and unloose their bonds.

They are charged with a missiemeanor under the Penal Code for endangering the public health. There was another charge against Jamen for imperilling the life of his child by refusing to give it proper medical treatment.

None of the prisoners could speak much English except Anwo Jahsen, the nurse, and whe told Judge Tighe that they all trusted in the eaving force of Jenus Christ, and that was enough for them. Jansen had nothing to say.

This did not satisty Judge Tighe, so be committed them all under $500 bail on each charge for examination Dec. 19, and then went back to prison without a murmur.

Health Inspector Callahan said to an Evanno Would on the neighborhood of Beach place in South Brooklyn.

Mayor Grant would not deny that he had held a conference at which the reorganization of the Dock Department was Miscussed when seen by an Evening World man this morning, but he would not say what the result of that conference was, nor would he discuss the probability of his action on the report to be submitted to him.

Comptroller Myers was the first witness called in the investigation this morning.

He had been asked to testify regarding any check which the Finance Department.

"We have no check on dredging accounts but the indersement of the Dock Commissioners," testified the Comptroller. "The youchers never come to us until the work is completed, and as it is under water we cannot ascertain if it is alsolutely correct.

"The lives of all the people in the vicinity of Jansen's house were imperilled by the presence of such dreaded diseases, and I cannot tell yet how tar the contagion may spread. No other cases have been discovered as yet.

Officer Coachino, of the S. P. C. C., who investigated the Jansen case, says that the sick child was in a terrible condition. Its body was incrusted with cruptions of the scarlet fever, and it was also slowly dring of diphtheria, which it, as well as the mother, had probably contracted in the Jansen house. The father regarded them both with perfect indifference.

conclusion if the vouchers are correct or fraudulest."

Most of the audits of the Union Dredging Company's bills which Corporation Counsel Clark called Mr. Myers's attention to, show that the prices fixed are "by special agreement."

The Comptroller explained that there is no agreement in writing fixing the prices to be paid and no resolution of the Dock Board, and there is a special agreement simply because the Treasurer's criters, certified to by the Dock Board, make a contract binding on the city.

The Comptroller called attention to the fact that the Commissioners of Accounts had examined every one of the bills regarding which he was being interrogated, and that they had indused all of them as being correct.

A bill was shown where the Union Dredging Company had been paid for a large quantity of mud' estimated in place, "and the Comptroller essid that this was not sudified until the chief engineer of his Department certified that the work had been done and was accurately measured.

Enforce leaving the stand, the Comptroller work had been done and was accurately measured.

Before leaving the stand, the Comptroller stated that he had advocated the passage of a bill by the last Legislature, which would place the Dock Department under the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, that its appropriations might be controlled by that Board.
